

COLONEL WHITE HIGH SCHOOL
"CLASS OF 1963"
45th REUNION UPDATE

Hello Everyone!

It's Thanksgiving weekend and I finally have time off to write. It seems appropriate to let you know what a great time our classmates had at our 45th reunion. I, for one, was very thankful I had the opportunity to visit with so many old friends.

Friday night we met at Brick's Ice Co. downtown. It was a laid back evening with lots of catching up; no fuss. We all agreed that none of us has changed at all. We look exactly the same. We were all wondering who was where, and catching up on news.

Saturday our reunion was at the Packard Museum, compliments of Bob Signom. It seemed to be a perfect place. We had an intimate setting where we could share our lives with one another.

The food was good, we had an informal buffet. The atmosphere was warm and friendly and the company was fabulous! We talked and talked, shared memories and laughs. The great thing about our class is the comfortable way we all relate. This reunion, in particular, seemed much more relaxed. We spent time with each and every person.

I heard many regrets that some of our classmates couldn't make it, or that we couldn't find someone. But the people who came seemed to really enjoy themselves.

We want to thank all of you who have sent a contribution to our 50th reunion. We are all excited and ready to start planning. I have a good list of people who have offered to help. Starting now, we are beginning to search for all missing classmates.

Most of our communications will be on-line to save money for the "main event". If you don't see someone's name in the addresses and have an e-mail for them, please send it to Don Thompson by clicking on the envelope at the top of the website home page. (Colonel White 63.com),

We are planning our first meeting next spring. Anyone who wishes to assist in any way, please let us know. You can help even if you don't live here. We need your ideas and input.

Our treasury report is available by clicking on the envelope at the top of our home page, and sending your request to Don.
